"KENTUCKY" THRILLS LARGE AUDIENCE

Mrs. Lilly Waller Chatten Reads Poem at First Baptist Church

Mrs. Lilly Waller Chatten, reader and entertainer, author of "Pennyroyal Pearls," is in Henderson for a few days, and read some of her poems before the union missionary meeting at the First Baptist church Monday afternoon, which was a delightful literary and artistic treat. Her first number was a little prayer taken from the first poem she ever wrote. But the one that touched and thrilled the audience was her poem, "Kentucky." She is beginning a tour of her native State reading her own poems to Kentucky audiences and Henderson is fortunate in having an opportunity to hear her. She will read Wednesday afternoon at the Woman's Club open meeting and tea, to which the public is cordially invited.

The people of Earlington remember Mrs. Chatten with pleasure, she was a resident of this city for several years and made a large number of friends while here who will be glad to know she has attained such literary success.

Kentucky
I'm longing for Kentucky
Now that the Spring is here,
Where the blue-bird and the robin
Sing again their merry cheer.

Where perched on hedge and dog-wood,
In coat of framing ray,
"King Cardinal" sets on topmost bough
And trills his rapturous lay.

Where tiny leaves have broadened
Into palms that stretch and give
New life and joy and happiness.
And make us glad to live.

Oh dear, dear old Kentucky,
With turf of emerald green,
With your clover-fields and daisies,
And quiet rills between.

No sky so blue in Heaven,
No stars so sparkling bright,
No moon e'er told such secrets
To lovers night by night.

I'm longing for Kentucky,
Now that the Spring is here—
For Kentucky, old Kentucky,
The place on earth most dear.

L. & N. STRINGING

Four Copper Wires Between Nashville and Evansville

The L. & N. have had a force of about fifty men at work since Nov. 1st putting up poles and stringing telephone wires between Nashville and Evansville and on the Morganfield and Elmitch branches. Few people have any idea of the enormous quantity of wire it takes to string four wires for a distance of 257 miles. It will require 5,329,152 feet of wire and 8,995 poles to complete the work and will take several months work. One of the lines will likely be used for dispatching trains, two for commercial message and one for R. R. messages. Mr. John D. Hutton of Nashville Tenn is in charge of the Telephone supply house with his headquarters at this place. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

The July Woman's Home Companion

In the July Woman's Home Companion two letters are published which the editors say they cannot answer. They ask readers to send in suggestions as to how the questions in these letters should be met. One letter is from a woman who wants to get married and does not know what to do about it. The other is from a man who wants to get married and does not know what to do about it. The difficulties that stand in the way of marriage as outlined in these two letters are very real and probably exist in tens of thousands of cases.

Among the interesting articles in the July issue are: "Oratory in the Home" by Mary Heaton Vorse; "Four Interesting Questions Often Asked About Better Films" by Helen Daey; "Mrs. Larry's Adventures in Thrift" by Anna Steese Richardson; "The Country Woman's Opportunities" by Frank A. Waugh; "The Camping Caravan" by William J. Albin, and "Made-in-America Vacations" by Albert Lee.

Lively fiction is contributed by Grace S. Richmond, Mary Hastings Bradley, Owen Oliver, Mary Brecht Palmer and Margaretta Tuttle. For the outdoor girl five little articles are contributed—one for the girl who swims, another about a honeymoon tramp, a third about a down-cast clam-bake, a fourth about the girl and the garden, and the fifth about the girl who goes camping.

The regular fashion, cooking, housekeeping, better babies, handicraft, young people's and "About People" departments complete an interesting number.

$100,000 DAMAGE IS DONE BY STORM

Indianapolis is Visited by Wind and Rain; Street Car Lines Paralyzed

Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—A severe windstorm shortly after noon today did damage roughly estimated at $100,000 and put all the north and east street car lines out of commission as well as the electric power and telephone companies in a large section of the city.

The heaviest damage was confined to a narrow strip along St. Clair St., extending from the Canal on the West to East Street on the east, a distance of about a mile.

E. N. Copple, who says he was to ride as a mechanic with Ed van Raalte, the English automobile driver, in the 500-mile race at Chicago, on June 13, was caught in his automobile by a falling pole. The machine was demolished and Copple was badly cut and bruised.

The high tension wire of the Indianapolis Light and Heat Co., which is located in St. Clair street, were torn down, hundreds of the large poles being broken off square. Many houses in the path of the storm also were damaged, one apartment house under construction being almost completely wrecked.

Shade trees also were uprooted all over the north side of the city.

Officials of the street car company said they would not be able to restore service before tomorrow.

Indian Folklore Perpetuated in Street Lighting Fixtures

Closely connected with the Indian legends in California is a peculiar scar on the mountain side near San Bernardino which takes the form of an arrow head. This symbol has been adopted as the permanent design of the ornamental street lighting system of the Gate City.

The lighting fixtures are each four feet wide and six feet long, being mounted on galvanized posts eight feet high. Ranged on either side of the arrowhead are 14 10-watt Edison Mazda lamps, while the top is surmounted by a 12 inch round globe illuminated by a 60-watt lamp. The blocks in San Bernardino are 600 feet long, and 10 of these fixtures are ranged five on each side of the street, and spread an even glow over the entire length of the block, penetrating every shady spot caused by the trees in the yards, and giving the street all the illumination necessary at very little expense. The plan is to burn all the lights in the fixture from dark until 11 o'clock, and to operate the top light only during the balance of the night.
